A Message from the Mayor

Millions of people in over 180 countries will switch off their lights for sixty minutes tonight to mark Earth Hour.

At Council we'll be switching off the lights at key buildings and are also running some fun events across the region including night walks, lantern making and nature workshops for kids.

But of course we strive for environmental sustainability every day. We have reduced our energy consumption by installing solar panels on 33 Council buildings with more to come later this year, and are running a cogeneration plant at the new Andrew 'Boy' Charlton Aquatic Centre.

Today we also launch an exciting new energy challenge to encourage residents to go beyond Earth Hour. You can register to participate over a six month period and take action around your home to reduce your energy footprint.

Register now, take action, accumulate points and even win some prizes. Do one challenge or do them all - the more you do the bigger your impact on the environment and your hip pocket. You'll find all the information to register on our website.

Tomorrow the Royal Far West in Manly is throwing the doors open and inviting the community to an open day. They provide a fantastic service connecting regional kids with all the healthcare they need.

Finally, Council meets again on Tuesday night. You can see your Councillors in action at Dee Why Council Chambers or watch the live stream online.

Have a good weekend.
