

A message from the Mayor

It was fantastic to see so many people in the gallery for the Council meeting this week, showing their support for issues they care strongly about.

We heard directly from 20 people who addressed the Council with great articulation and passion on issues as far ranging as climate change, dogs and parking. I thank you all, and all those in the gallery behind, for making your voices heard and conducting yourself respectfully as we debated the issues at hand.

We got through a lot of business on Tuesday night. We allocated over $600,000 for building improvements to surf clubs across the area. We endorsed the masterplan for Clontarf Reserve which will see over $5million spent on a major upgrade over the next few years including a new playground, realignment of the car park for more open space and improved amenities.

We'll also now be seeking public feedback on a draft framework designed to fix the troubled residential parking permit system in Manly and on a plan for West Esplanade that better celebrates its natural and cultural heritage.

We agreed to trial a new dog off leash area on Station Beach at Palm Beach, although we still need to apply for a licence from the state government before it can proceed. This issue has been around for a good 15 years so it's good staff have spent the last 12 months conducting the extensive consultation and environment assessments needed to give Councillors the best information to make this decision.

And following impassioned addresses from, among others, well-known scientist Tim Flannery and 16-year-old Stephanie Evans concerned for her future, we agreed to join over 900 jurisdictions worldwide, including 35 Australian councils, in declaring a climate emergency and to look at what we can do to make a difference locally.

We always welcome community involvement at our monthly meetings. You can see the agenda the Wednesday before and register to make an address up until midday the day of the meeting.

Finally, best of luck to all those in the Manly Fun Run tomorrow, supporting some of our amazing local charities as well as the event organisers, the Manly Rotary Club itself who provides critical community service.

And Happy Father's Day to all the dads and grandads out there – hope you are suitably spoilt!
