

A message from the Mayor

October is NSW Small Business Month and we are celebrating the incredible contribution of the 32,000 businesses across the Northern Beaches, of which 90% are small businesses.

Our local economy thrives thanks to the hard work of business owners, who value-add close to $12 billion a year and employ over 88,000 people.

Over the next few weeks Council is staging a series of events to support local businesses. Check out workshops on cyber security, working with Council, grant writing and food safety. Details can be found on Council's website.

I encourage everyone to think about engaging with local professionals and trades and shopping local when you can - we are fortunate to have some very clever and creative small businesses on the Beaches.

This week it was great to be invited to help launch Anglicare's new shop in Dee Why, just in time for Op Shop Week. Lots of bargains to be had and raising important funds for all the great work Anglicare does in our community.

And it's the October long weekend which means just one thing...jazz!

Now in its 42nd year, Manly Jazz hosts an array of fantastic talent from Australia and around the world with spectacular Manly Beach as its backdrop.

Renowned American double bass player Rodney Whitaker, better known as the 'Professor of Jazz Bass', is the headline act but there are almost 1,000 musicians performing over the three-day festival.

Take in the music, visit the festival bar or check out the specials on offer at the local cafés and restaurants.

Thanks to all the Manly Jazz volunteers who help make this event such a success year after year.

Watch out for temporary road closures and seriously consider the public transport options available. Forecast clear skies will mean a busy weekend for Manly.

The warmer weather and school holidays has brought everyone back to the beach this week - great timing as our lifeguards, alongside volunteer lifesavers, are now back on patrol.

Last year over 10.5 million people visited our beaches and Council Lifeguards and surf club volunteers carried out 437,398 preventative actions, 1,041 rescues and provided first aid to 5,384 people.

Have a safe and enjoyable long weekend.
